How We Use Cookies

A cookie is a small file which asks permission to be placed on your computer's hard drive. Once you agree, the file is added and the cookie helps analyse web traffic or lets you know when you visit a particular site. Cookies allow web applications to respond to you as an individual. The web application can tailor its operations to your needs, likes and dislikes by gathering and remembering information about your preferences.

We use traffic log cookies to identify which pages are being used. This helps us analyse data about web page traffic and improve our website in order to tailor it to customer needs. We only use this information for statistical analysis purposes and then the data is removed from the system.

Overall, cookies help us provide you with a better website, by enabling us to monitor which pages you find useful and which you do not. A cookie in no way gives us access to your computer or any information about you, other than the data you choose to share with us.

You can choose to accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. This may prevent you from taking full advantage of the website.

Your information

We use the information that we collect from you to provide our products and services to you. In addition to this we may use the information for one or more of the following purposes:

- To provide information to you that you request from us relating to our products or services.
- To provide information to you relating to other products that may be of interest to you. Such additional information will only be provided where you have consented to receive such information.
- To inform you of any changes to our website, services or goods and products.
- If you have previously purchased from us we may provide to you details of similar goods or services, or other goods and services, that you may be interested in.
- All marketing emails sent by us will have a clear unsubscribe link. We do not pass on your information to third parties for use in their own marketing at any time.

Links to Other Sites

Our website may contain links to other websites of interest. However, once you have used these links to leave our site, you should note that we do not have any control over that other website. Therefore, we cannot be responsible for the protection and privacy of any information which you provide whilst visiting such sites and such sites are not governed by this privacy statement. You should exercise caution and look at the privacy statement applicable to the website in question.

Controlling your Personal Information

You may choose to restrict the collection or use of your personal information in the following ways:

If you want to opt out of marketing emails, you may do so by clicking unsubscribe in the email, or by emailing us at info@geolytix.com. If you are an existing customer and you opt out of marketing emails then we will still send you transactional emails.

Transactional emails are necessary communications about your accounts and our business dealings with you, such as renewals and updates, and, as allowed by applicable law, requests for your participation in surveys.

We will not sell, distribute or lease your personal information to third parties unless we have your permission or are required by law to do so.

You may request details of personal information which we hold about you under the Data Protection Act 1998. A small fee will be payable. If you would like a copy of the information held on you please write to us.

If you believe that any information we are holding on you is incorrect or incomplete, please write to or email us as soon as possible, at the above office address. We will promptly correct any information found to be incorrect.

The steps we take to keep your information private

Where we store your information in third-party services, we restrict access only to people who need it. We store passwords in a kdbx (keepass) compliant file stored in our corporate google drive folder.

Designated employees use keepass (windows) or keeweb (unix) for access. These are encrypted password managers which use a different, randomly generated password for each service, and never use the same password twice.

The computers we use are protected by a passcode, fingerprint or strong password and have Bitlocker and Norton Anti-Virus installed. Our mobile devices are also protected by a fingerprint or passcode.

Removing your information

At any point, you may delete your account, however as this is potentially very destructive (removing license authorisations for any sites you hold) we ask that you contact us if you wish to request this. We will also remove data linked to you stored with our third parties.

How to complain

We take complaints very seriously. If you've any reason to complain about the ways we handle your privacy, please email us at info@geolytix.com. If you're the letter writing type, send your envelope to Sarah Hitchcock, Unit 117, Finsbury Business Centre, 40 Bowling Green Lane, EC1R 0NE.
